McDOUGAL, Okla., June 1.—Relief workers in the flood and furnado-devastated area of southwestern Nebraska today estimated the death toll may reach 250 persons and confirmed reports that the village of May and Parks had been swept away by the flood waters.

The casualties followed after a tornado had cut a half mile wide swath through Red Willow county last evening and after all rivers and creeks in the territory swelled by heavy rains and cloud burst suddenly went out of their banks.

News Obtained by Plane

First authentic word of the disaster to reach the outside world after the tornado had severed all communications was received at Lincoln, Neb., from an Associated Press staff writer last night.

President Miller nor son for the bombing. President Miller had received no replies and had no news.

A large gathering of students, parents and friends of the students was held at the Edison High School on Friday afternoon. The students were the main attraction of the day.

The junior class of

for the first time in the history of the school, the first class to graduate from the Edison High School, held its graduation exercises on Friday afternoon.

Dr. J. L. Lewis of the College of Education at Ohio State University was the speaker. What Shall We Do When I Make You Make Me was the title of his address.

A girl, Esther Hager, carried off the honors of the class. For her four years work she made 14 points out of a possible 18. She and friends for her hard work were invited to Kevin's Cafeteria with honors to Paul Edwards, their honorable mention going to Dean Biddle.

Winners in an essay contest

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COLEMAN

Too Much Blood

It is not unusual to hear of a person having anemia, a condition in which there is too little blood.

Put we rarely hear of anyone having too much blood. But it does happen. This strange and unusual condition is called Vaquer disease.

It received its name from Doctor Vaquer who first described the disease in 180.

Since then much study has been devoted to this ailment. Doctors seem never to be satisfied with simple names for human ailments. They call this polythemia, a term.

In common anemia there is less than the normal quantity of blood or there is a marked decrease in the number of red cells in the blood stream.

In Vaquer disease on the contrary there is a marked increase in these elements.

Indeed the increase is far beyond the normal require ments of the body. In conse quence evil and even serious conse quences follow.

Though many explanations have been advanced the actual cause of the disease is not known. Since the liver, spleen and bone marrow are concerned with the manufacture of red blood corpuscles, it is assumed that Vaquer disease is due to an excretion or defect in some part of this mechanism. It is not due to loss of blood infection or bad eating practice as is the case in anemia.

At times Vaquer disease the sufferer may be entirely unaware of his affliction. No pain or dis comfort is present and the victim appears to be in good health. In consequence the disease is some times entirely overlooked for a convenient period of time. In other instances the disease is ac cessfully recognized when the blo d happens to be summed for the excretion or another.

The disease is progressive and in the course of time certain symp toms appear. The skin of the face cheeks, nose and ears have a pe culiar bluish appearance. The face is extremely pale in the slightest exertion. The patient has difficulty in breathing and complaints of weakness when he at tempts to do a moderate amount of work which previously he ver ily enjoyed.

A examination of the blood is imperative in every suspected case.

A simple blood test will reveal in excess of one million red cells.

If a patient has the middle class of 110,000,000 an extra 10,000,000 million red blood cells when he is at rest.

As I said much has been done since Vaquer first described the disease. It is probable that within a short time the cure and cure will be dis covers.

Floods New Menace

By the Associated Press QUAKE, Ida J. June 1.—The shaker of last night in this earth-quake stricken area was 150 miles east of New York, as well as westward in the mountains and southward in the state rescue and relief authorities of the area.

The bodies of those who died in the disaster were burned or buried in the streets as the rescue and relief work continued.

Hundreds Killed in Hospital

One hundred or more people died in the saving of the one hospital killing.

Builds outside the city added 1 to the toll.

Water rushing from fissures and in the quake in some places crept into a depth of several feet.

At estimated 200 persons in the 100 to 150 in all were killed among the victims.

The most of the injured could be treated at British and Indian hospitals attempt to reach them.

After 12 hours of digging, scores of them were draped in the streets from head to foot.

Jacobs Enter City

It is known the surrounding hills slipped into the debris checked the night, adding new houses to the ruined plateau area.

Shots from the rifles of sentries around the still snarl of pulp in the rubble boats were struck and the winding ties in Allah and Allah's men.

The Ohio legislature, which promised to be in almost continuous session during the year, has the power to extend this right in act wise improvements for all types of employees male and female.

Waves of New Laws

He wanted further that, if the exploiters of steel, price cutting goes with us, as seems indicated in certain sections of the state, he would be authorized for legislation to legalize readjustments in prices between manufacturers and merchants.

Concluding that the state has it easily within its power to force the maintenance of reasonable working hours and fair minimum wages and to prohibit illusory price cutting and similar unfair trade practices, Sheridan declared.

The state can do this without reference to the existing Ohio le-galities and general opinion that the Ohio recovery act offers little or no opportunity to continue into state code regulations, now that the NRA has been discarded.
